

RICH MAJOR SUES WAR

BRIDE FOR DIVORCE

BOSTON, June 26.—A romance of the world war was shattered yesterday when former Mayor H. Beckwith of Dover, N. H., millionaire manufacturer, who went into the army a buck private and came out a major, entered suit for divorce against his young and pretty wife, Marion Taylor, a divorcee and Boston artist, whom he married in New York, April 19, 1918, on the eve of his departure for France.

The libel, filed at Dover, N. H., names as co-respondent John Galpin, a Boston lawyer, who has a wife and children. The suit is returned at the September court.
